Germany At Brest Litovsk

It is hard to imagine a more humiliating or intolerable position than that in which German leadership found itself at Brest Litovsk. It was negotiating with anarchy, itself the champion of autocracy. It was listening to threats and insults from the representatives of a mob, not a nation. It was compelled solemnly to debate with men who had no army and no real force behind them and it was compelled to do all this because it had involved itself in a game, designed to strike at Allied morale, but, as it turned out, destined to affect the morale of its own populations.

German terms at Brest Litovsk are not interesting as such. Germany is demanding the war map and a little more. She is seeking to erect a Baltic state, under her control, in which 250,000 Germans shall rule 5,000,000 Slavs. She is endeavoring to construct a new Poland in which Hapsburg power shall prevail for the present. She refuses all evacuation until after the war. She insists upon self determination of political allegiance by the people, while her armies guard the ballot boxes, and she refuses to let her own Poles share in the same self-determining process. In a word, all her protestations are shams, covering extreme territorial ambitions.

But what is real at Brest Litovsk is not the Russian delegation nor the German demands. Actually Brest Litovsk is interesting because it was the battlefield upon which was fought out the German peace offersive. There it was exposed and routed. There it collapsed with the results I have indicated already. Had the Bolsheviks been knaves, had they been German agents, they would have made peace on German terms. They would have accepted the German protestations at their face value and become willing dupes of German policies. Had they done this, the effect in Allied nations would have been bad, if not disastrous.

Thoughtless and war weary people would have accepted any terms the Bolsheviks accepted on the valuation of the Russians. "If Russia is satisfied," they would have argued, "why not we?" This was the dangerous moment. It has passed. Now Brest Litovsk is a minor affair and the Germans are in the position of a man who went into the swamp to waylay a foe and got mired. Even with the game gone, they have still to get out.—American Review of Reviews.

Does Not Reduce the Price.

A pipe has been invented which fills itself as fast as the tobacco in the bowl is consumed. How Mark Twain would have appreciated this modern convenience! While Mr. Clemens was a young man, it is said, he contrived a pipe, consisting of a can of tobacco placed on the floor, to which a long rubber tube was attached. Then he would light the whole can and smoke in bed.—Exchange.

Shakespeare and the Bible.

Whatever his faults and limitations, Shakespeare will live forever. Dr. George W. Carey has said: "Shakespeare probed the depths of human possibilities, analyzed the stuff from which thoughts are made, turned the searchlight of incomparable genius on the records of the soul, painted its deeds on the canvas of life, and left it naked and ashamed." Shakespeare and the Bible will survive, after all our current literature is forgotten.—Los Angeles Times.

True Affection.

A youngster, fond of visiting museums and very affectionate, started his mother by remarking if she died he would stuff her so that he could sit in her lap all the time.

Expensive Gold Fish.

The rarest and most expensive gold fish in the world is the Chinese brush-tail, a pair of which sell for $1,500. Probably there is no other living thing of its size and weight that is worth so much money.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. Cake Annoyed Him.

"Peat Cotton."
A material known as "peat cotton" is either made into cushions on which to rest injured limbs, or as filling for bandages. One difficulty about using peat cotton is that it must be kept moist. When dry it crumbles into dust and becomes useless. A trace of tar in the make-up renders peat cotton a valuable disinfectant.

Little Angel Present.
A primary teacher, admonishing little Ann, who usually was a model child, for misconduct, said: "I thought I had a little angel in the room. Now where is she?" Little Betty, on the other side of the room, stood up meekly and shyly answered: "Here I is."

The Moment of Triumph.

SHIP YOUR HOGS TO OGDEN

—save shrinkage

Occasionally there is a shipment of hogs consigned to a distant market. The owner suffers shrinkage and other losses, occasioned by shipping long distances, and does not get any better price for his hogs.

Most of the hog raisers in the intermountain west save shrinkage by shipping their hogs to Ogden—the home of Mountain Brand Products—where highest prices are always paid for hogs.
